Decorative Wrought Iron

Decorative wrought iron fences are a classic choice that has been used for centuries. Wrought iron can be twisted, curved, and shaped into intricate designs, giving your property a timeless look. These fences are durable and can withstand harsh weather conditions, making them perfect for outdoor spaces. They can be painted to match any color scheme, and the open design allows for visibility while still providing a barrier.

Overgrown Trellises

Overgrown trellises are a unique way to add a touch of nature to your fence. By allowing climbing plants such as ivy or grapevines to grow over your metal fence, you can create a natural, rustic look. This type of fence is perfect for creating a green privacy barrier while still providing an open-air feel.

Sheet Metal and Post

minimalistic design. The metal sheets can be painted any color and can be customized with cutouts or designs to make the fence unique.

Grate Style Panel Fencing

Grate style panel fencing is an excellent choice for those looking for a modern, industrial feel. These fences are made up of narrow metal slats or grates that are set apart from one another, allowing for airflow and light to pass through. This type of fence can be used for both residential and commercial properties, and can be customized with different colors and slat sizes.

Post and Cable

Post and cable fences are a unique, modern take on the traditional metal fence. This type of fence uses metal posts and cables to create a barrier, providing a minimalist look. The cables can be tensioned, giving the fence a unique, linear design. This fence is perfect for those who want a contemporary look without sacrificing durability and strength.
